

AmeriCorps Education Award

Congress established the National Service Trust to provide an AmeriCorps Education Award for members who successfully complete service in AmeriCorps. You can use your AmeriCorps Education Award to pay educational expenses at qualified institutions of higher education, for educational training, or to repay qualified student loans. The award is $4,725 for a year of full-time service, and is prorated for part-time. You have up to seven years after your term of service has ended to claim the award.

At the time you use the AmeriCorps Education Award, you must have received a high school diploma, or the equivalent of such a diploma.

If you successfully completed a term of service with AmeriCorps*VISTA in an approved national service position, you are eligible to receive either an AmeriCorps Education Award or an end-of-service stipend of $1,200. The AmeriCorps Education Award option is subject to available National Service Trust allocations to AmeriCorps*VISTA and must have been selected prior to the start of service.

You can use your AmeriCorps Education Award in any of the following ways—or a combination of them.

Repay Qualified Student Loans

The national service legislation defines qualified student loan as a loan backed by the federal government under Title IV of the Higher Education Act (except PLUS Loans to parents of students), or under Titles VII or VIII of the Public Health Service Act.

You may also use your AmeriCorps Education Award to repay a student loan made by a state agency, including state institutions of higher education.

AmeriCorps Education Awards may not be used to repay any other type of loan, even if the loan was obtained for educational purposes. You can use your AmeriCorps Education Award to repay defaulted student loans as long as the loans meet the definition of qualified student loan.

Pay Current Educational Expenses at a Qualified School

Current educational expenses, as authorized under 42 U.S.C. § 12604(c), include:

- The "Cost of Attendance" for a degree- or certificate-granting program of study at a qualified school; and
- Educational expenses for non-degree courses offered by qualified schools, such as continuing education courses.

Your school is qualified if it is a Title IV institution of higher education. This includes most colleges and universities, and includes graduate schools.

Pay Current Educational Expenses While Participating in an Approved School-to-Work Program

Current educational expenses are expenses that were incurred after you became an AmeriCorps member. Current educational expenses are based on:

- The "Cost of Attendance" for a degree or certificate-granting program at a qualified school and
- Educational expenses for non-degree courses, such as continuing education courses offered by qualified schools.

For credit or degree courses, the cost of attendance may include tuition, books and supplies, transportation, room and board, and other expenses. Each school's financial aid office determine a student's cost of attendance based upon standard U.S. Department of Education guidance.

Extend the 7-Year Deadline

By law, you have seven years within which to use your AmeriCorps Education Awards. The period begins the date you complete your term of service in AmeriCorps. This time limit may be extended if certain circumstances have prevented the award from being used during this time period.

These circumstances can include:

- Performing another term of service in AmeriCorps or the Peace Corps during the seven year period; or
- Being unavoidably prevented from using the award during the seven-year period. Examples of unavoidable situations which may warrant extensions include serious illness or disability, military service, death of a family member, or important service records being destroyed or inaccessible by the program. Any period of incarceration as a result of a conviction of a criminal offense will not be considered an unavoidable situation.

You must request the extension in writing before the end of the seven-year period. The request can be either by mail or can be made electronically. A notice will be mailed to all members prior to the end of their seven-year period reminding them of the expiration of their awards.

For further information on how to request this extension, contact the National Service Trust toll-free at 1-888-507-5962.

Contact the National Service Trust

What can the education award be used for?

You can use your education award in the following ways, or a combination of them:

- to repay qualified existing or future student loans;
- to pay all or part of the current education expenses to attend a qualified institution of higher education (including certain vocational programs); or
- to pay expenses while participating in an approved school-to-work program.

How much are education awards for?

- If you successfully complete one full-time term of service (at least 1,700 hours over one year or less), you will be eligible for an award of $4,725.00.
- If you successfully complete one part-time term of service (at least 900 hours over two years or less), you will be eligible for an award of $2,362.50.
- If you are in a short-term program, such as a summer program, you will be eligible for a "reduced part-time" award -- usually $1,000 or less.
- If you serve at least 15 percent of your term and leave for compelling personal circumstances (as determined by your project director), you may be eligible for a prorated award based on the number of service hours you complete.

How many education awards can you receive?

Up to two. You can receive an award for your first two terms of service, regardless of whether they are full-time, part-time, or reduced part-time terms. If you end a term of service early, that term may count as one of your two chances to earn an award.

Which colleges and universities are "qualified institutions"?

You can use your education award at most institutions of higher education (including graduate and professional programs), as well as some vocational schools. An institution is considered qualified for the education award if it is a Title IV school, which means it has an agreement with the U.S. Department of Education making its students eligible for at least one of the federally backed forms of financial assistance (such as Pell Grants, Perkins Loans, Stafford Loans, National Direct Loans, and Federal Consolidated Loans). To make sure the institution you want to attend is qualified, check with the financial aid office to make sure the school is a "Title IV" institution before you make specific plans.

What types of loans can the education award repay?

Most postsecondary loans that are backed by the federal government are qualified for repayment with an AmeriCorps education award. Also, loans that are made by state agencies, including state colleges and universities are now qualified. Your lender should be able to tell you if your loan is qualified. Qualified loans include:

- Stafford Loans

- Perkins Loans
- William D. Ford Direct Loans
- Federal Consolidated Loans
- Supplemental Loans for Students
- Primary Care Loans
- Nursing Student Loans
- Health Education Assistance Loans
- Loans issued to AmeriCorps members by the Alaska Commission on Postsecondary Education

What are "current educational expenses"?

Current educational expenses are expenses that were incurred after you became an AmeriCorps. Current educational expenses are based on:

- The "Cost of Attendance" for a degree or certificate-granting program at a qualified school and
- Educational expenses for non-degree courses, such as continuing education courses offered by qualified schools.

For credit or degree courses, the cost of attendance may include tuition, books and supplies, transportation, room and board, and other expenses. Each school's financial aid office determine a student's cost of attendance based upon standard U.S. Department of Education guidance.

When can you use your education award?

You can use your education award any time after you receive your voucher -- up to seven years after the date you end your service. You can apply for an extension if:

- you are unable to use the award for some reason during that time; or
- you perform another term of service in an approved program.

To be considered for an extension, you must apply before the end of the seven year period.

Is the education award taxable?

Yes. You will be taxed on your education award in the year you use it. For example, if you use all or part of your award for college in the fall of 2001, when you file your 2001 taxes, you must pay taxes on the portion of the award you used.

However, you may be able to take advantage of the Hope Scholarship Credit or the Lifelong Learning Credit. Those credits may provide you with significant tax relief. Both the Department of Education and the Internal Revenue Service have information on these tax provisions.

The Corporation for National and Community Service does not withhold taxes from the award. By the end of January the Corporation will send a 1099 Form to all AmeriCorps members who have made payments from their education awards and for whom interest payments have been made during the previous year. The 1099 Form does not need to be included in your tax return, but it reflects the amount that the National Service Trust reports to the IRS as taxable miscellaneous income.

What about paying student loans during your term of service?

You may be eligible for forbearance for your qualified student loans from your loan holder. During a period of forbearance, you do not have to make payments, although interest continues to accumulate on your loans. If you qualified for loan forbearance and completed the appropriate form at the beginning of your term of service and receive an education award, AmeriCorps will pay all or a portion of the interest that accrued on your qualified student loan during your service. This amount is in addition to your education award.

Looking for your W-2?

AmeriCorps*State and National members will receive their W-2 from the program where you served. AmeriCorps*VISTA and AmeriCorps*NCCC members will receive their W-2 from the Corporation for National and Community Service.

If you have not received your W-2 or need a duplicate:

- AmeriCorps*VISTA members contact the Corporation State Office in which you served
- AmeriCorps*NCCC members send an email to anccc@cns.gov

Amount of the AmeriCorps Education Award

The amount of the AmeriCorps Education Award depends on the length of your term of service.

Payments made from AmeriCorps Education Awards are considered taxable income in the year that the Corporation makes the payment to the school or loan holder.

A member serving in a full-time term of service is required to complete service within 9 to 12 months.

Eligibility

You are eligible for an AmeriCorps Education Award if you successfully complete your term of service in accordance with your member contract with one of the following approved AmeriCorps programs:

- AmeriCorps*State and National
- AmeriCorps*VISTA
- AmeriCorps*NCCC

At the time you use the AmeriCorps Education Award, you must have received a high school diploma, or the equivalent of such diploma.

Alternative to the AmeriCorps Education Award

As an alternative to the AmeriCorps Education Award, AmeriCorps*VISTA members may choose to take a post-service cash stipend instead.

Only AmeriCorps*VISTA alumni who choose the stipend and have student loans may be eligible for up to 15% cancellation on certain types of loans. To determine what student loans may be eligible for cancellation and to receive forms, contact the U.S. Department of Education at 1-800-433-3243. *AmeriCorps*VISTA who choose the education award may not claim a partial cancellation.*

Award Limitations

Under no circumstances will an individual be eligible to receive more than two AmeriCorps Education Awards. Awards can be earned during the first two terms of national service. You are eligible to receive one award for each of your first two terms of service, regardless of the length of the term. Full-time, half-time, reduced half-time, quarter time, and minimum time terms of service each count as one term of service. Generally, if you are released for cause before completing your term of service and do not receive an education award, that term of service counts as one of your two terms. In addition,

- You cannot transfer the education award to any other individual.
- The Trust does not make payments to anyone else other than qualified schools and loan holders.

2006 RAVEN AmeriCorps Manual

See your financial aid counselor for information on how they handle disbursements and reimbursements.

- If you withdraw from the school at which you have used the education award, the school may be required to refund the Trust. If any refund is owed, it is credited to your education award "account," and is subject to the seven-year time limit. For general information on how withdrawing from school may affect your student financial aid, go to U.S. Department of Education's Student Guidebook.
- Under certain circumstances, you can use the education award to study outside the U.S. Contact the National Service Trust at 1-888-507-5962 for further information.
- You have seven years to use the education award from the date of your completion of service. You can divide up your award and use portions of it at different times, as long as it is for authorized expenditures within the specified time period. You could, for example, apply a portion of it to existing qualified student loans, and save the remainder to pay for authorized college costs a few years down the road.

AmeriCorps members who are earning an AmeriCorps Education Award are uniquely eligible for one type of postponement of the repayment of their qualified student loan called forbearance. During this forbearance based on national service, interest continues to accrue. If you successfully complete your term of service and earn an education award, the National Service Trust will pay all or a portion of the interest that has accrued on your qualified student loans during this period. This accrued interest paid by the Trust, like the AmeriCorps Education Award itself, is subject to income taxes.

Eligibility for Postponement

AmeriCorps members enrolled in an AmeriCorps project are eligible for forbearance for most federally-backed student loans. For other types of student loans, ask your loan holder if your AmeriCorps service qualifies you for a deferment or forbearance.

AmeriCorps*VISTA members have some additional benefits. Whether they have elected the education award or the stipend, AmeriCorps*VISTA members may be eligible for other types of loan postponements. Those who choose the stipend are also uniquely eligible for partial cancellation of Perkins loans.

AmeriCorps*VISTA members can find more information on the postponement and cancellation of student loans in the AmeriCorps*VISTA Member Handbook.

To have repayment of your federal qualified student loans postponed, you must first officially enroll in an AmeriCorps project, which electronically sends enrollment information to the Trust. Then you must request a "forbearance" from your loan holder, by completing the Forbearance Request for National Service Form and any additional information or forms that your loan holder may require. Members can obtain the Forbearance Request Form through their program's staff. Complete one form for each of your loan holders. Since there are several types of forbearances and deferments, tell your loan holders that you are requesting loan forbearance based on your AmeriCorps service.

Submit your Forbearance Request for National Service Form (available through your program's staff) and any other information required by your loan holder to the National Service Trust, which we will process and return to your loan holder. We can certify your AmeriCorps status, but only the loan holder can determine your eligibility for forbearance. Contact your loan holder if you have not heard from them within four weeks of submitting your information to the Trust.

Interest Accrual Payments

AmeriCorps members who have earned an AmeriCorps Education Award are eligible to have the Trust pay up to 100% of the interest that accrued on their qualified student loan during their service. To have the Trust pay all or a portion of the interest accrued on your qualified student loans, the Trust must receive verification from your project that you have completed your service and are eligible for an award. You and your lender also must complete the Interest Accrued During National Service Form, which indicates the amount of interest accrued during your service period.

Your loan holder sends this completed form to the Trust for payment.

The Trust WILL NOT pay interest on qualified student loans if you fail to complete your term of service. Exceptions will be made only if you fail to complete your term of service for compelling personal circumstances and you have earned a pro-rated award. It is up to your individual program to determine compelling personal circumstances. Examples that might be considered are a serious illness or injury, death of your immediate family member, or early closing of your project.

The Trust will only pay interest on qualified student loans, as described earlier. Ask your loan holder if your student loan qualifies for other kinds of forbearance.

Defaulted Loans

Most student loans that are in default are not eligible for forbearance. If you have loans that have gone into default before you begin your AmeriCorps service, you can attempt to negotiate an arrangement with the loan holder (or collection agency) to bring the loan out of default so forbearance can be granted and interest paid.

You must correctly complete and submit to the National Service Trust the (1) Forbearance Request for National Service Form (available through your program's staff) at the start of your service term; and submit to your lender the (2) Interest Accrued During National Service Form at the end of your service term. Your project director may also make these available to you.

Financial Aid

The AmeriCorps Education Award, the interest the Trust may pay on your deferred qualified student loans, and the living allowance can affect your eligibility for other student financial aid in the following ways:

- Under certain circumstances, your education award, living allowance, and Trust payments on accrued student loans can be excluded from calculations determining your eligibility for student aid based on financial need. This could increase the amount of "need-based" aid for which you are eligible.
- Under different circumstances, using the education award can reduce the amount of other need-based student aid for which you are eligible.
- Institutions of higher education may offer special benefits to AmeriCorps alumni, thereby increasing the benefit of the education award.

Under certain circumstances, you may be able to exclude from the calculation of financial need the amount of the education award you used, the living allowance you earned, and Trust payments on qualified student loans that were made in a given year. Excluding these amounts from the calculation used to determine your financial need could increase the amount of need-based aid you can receive. This is a unique benefit to AmeriCorps alumni. Note, for example, that your living allowance, while subject to income taxes, is not considered as income in this calculation. Below, we tell you where this information should appear on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

Financial aid offices must consider the AmeriCorps education award as a resource, or funds that you have available toward your cost of attendance, when considering your eligibility for campus-based aid. This includes the Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), the Federal Work-Study Program, and Perkins Loans. (See 34 C.F.R. § 673.5(c).) Campus-based aid is distributed to schools in limited amounts, and is not considered an entitlement. A school will assist individuals to the extent resources are available. When you use your education award as a resource, it may reduce your eligibility for campus-based aid.

Be sure to consider all of your options early in your enrollment process.

In addition, it is very important that you complete the FAFSA correctly, and complete it early. The FAFSA "is used to apply for federal student financial aid, including grants, loans, and work-study. In addition, it is used by most states and schools to award non-federal student financial aid" (OMB# 1845-0001). FAFSA can be accessed online and comes with detailed instructions. In the income exclusion worksheet portion of the FAFSA, you are asked to write down the amount of any "AmeriCorps awards" that were reported to the IRS in your adjusted gross income.

A Message to Financial Aid Counselors

Dear Financial Aid Counselor:

We are providing this information to assist you in understanding the relationships between AmeriCorps and FAFSA. An AmeriCorps member receives three types of benefits that are relevant to completing the FAFSA:

Living Allowance: AmeriCorps members may receive a living allowance to cover living expenses during their term of service.

Education Award: After successfully completing a term of service, AmeriCorps members who are enrolled in the National Service Trust are eligible to receive an education award. The education award can be used to pay education costs at qualified institutions of higher education or training, or to repay qualified student loans. The award currently is $4,725 for a year of full-time service, with correspondingly lesser awards for part-time and reduced part-time service. A member has up to seven years after his or her term of service has ended to claim the award.

Payment of interest on loans: The Corporation for National and Community Service pays interest on postponed qualified student loans for AmeriCorps members who successfully complete their term of service.

The member may also be earning Federal Work-Study wages for serving in an AmeriCorps project. All of these benefits should be included on the "income exclusion worksheet" of the FAFSA.

With respect to the education award and interest payment, the IRS has determined that these payments are subject to income taxes in the calendar year in which they are paid by the trust. That taxable amount is reported on a 1099 form. When the student files a FAFSA for the following year, the amount of the AmeriCorps education award paid in the base year and included in that year's AGI, is to be excluded from the need analysis calculation. In most cases, the entire education award amount that was paid is taxable, so the entire amount that was paid is included in the AGI. Thus the filer is to report all of the award that was paid, not just the amount in excess of tuition, fees, books, and supplies.

We offer a Master of Public Service degree -- with the concentration on citizen and community involvement, leadership, social justice and equity -- all with a global dimension.

Our inaugural class is in place and it includes four (4) past AmeriCorps members, two (2) former Peace Corps volunteers and students from throughout the United States and the world. We are now in the process of recruiting our second class.

We made a concerted effort to recruit former AmeriCorps members in our inaugural class and have made a decision to continue this direction for students entering the Clinton School in the fall of 2006. Further, we have decided to "double match" the AmeriCorps education award. This means that one education award will be sufficient to cover all tuition and fees associated with the Master of Public Service degree -- a 16 month, 36 credit hour program.

HallSTARS! First-Year Program

The HallSTARS! Service Program is a residential living-learning-serving experience for freshmen committed to making a change in their community (all students reside in Cumberland Hall). As a member of the HallSTARS! learning community, students will be part of a national service movement, providing volunteer service as reading tutors, youth mentors, senior companions, and more.

AmeriCorps Opportunities for sophomore, juniors and seniors

Community Resident Assistant (CRA) AmeriCorps members will serve to recruit, train, and organize volunteer projects for their residents working closely with the R.A.'s and R.D. of the hall in which they are placed. In addition, students will volunteer in our Read to Succeed/Mathletics program, a one-on-one tutoring program for area youth in grades K-8. CRA's commit a total of 10 hours per week, this includes recruiting, planning two service projects each semester for your residence hall along with serving in the Read to Succeed Program.

HallSTARS! Fellows AmeriCorps Program for graduate students

HallSTARS! Fellows are partnered with a faculty mentor of their choosing and will serve at a service site of their choice. HallSTARS! Fellows will increase programming at a local non-profit or community-based site through a combination of service and research based upon their program of study. This experience is designed for seniors and graduate students only.

Once students have successfully completed the program requirements, they will receive $1,000 Educational Award (scholarship) from the Corporation for National and Community Service matched with a $500 housing stipend supported by FSU to use towards on-campus housing or a $250 bookstore stipend if living off-campus for the following academic year.

Hobart and William Smith Colleges place significant value on fostering social responsibility and public service. In fact, Hobart and William Smith Colleges was the only liberal arts institution in New York (and one of 81 institutions in 33 states) selected by The Princeton Review and Campus Compact as a “Colleges with a Conscience” – a guidebook that rates institutions on outstanding community involvement.

Hobart and William Smith Colleges offers a variety of service opportunities for students including a Habitat for Humanity chapter; Alternative Spring Break; the America Reads and Jumpstart programs in local elementary schools; Geneva Heroes – in which HWS students perform leadership training with eighth graders in Geneva; a Students Organized for Service (SOS) group; participation in “Celebrate Service, Celebrate Geneva – an annual day of service to the greater Geneva community; and more.

Continuing our commitment to public service, and in recognition of our student’s dedication to service learning, Hobart and William Smith Colleges is offering an AmeriCorps Matching Grant to qualified AmeriCorps students. This award matches, on a semester basis, the AmeriCorps funds the student requests for education costs through their AmeriCorps voucher, up to a maximum of $1,000 per academic year. Students must be admitted to Hobart and William Smith Colleges and attending on a full-time basis. Awards will be matched upon receipt of the AmeriCorps voucher.

Type: Private Graduate

The SIT Master's Program in Intercultural Service, Leadership, and Management prepares graduates who are critical thinkers, effective communicators, as well as compassionate advocates with exceptional intercultural abilities and awareness. Whether managing international development projects, building the capacity of citizens' groups, or integrating cultural awareness into educational experiences, SIT graduates have the skills they need to accomplish dynamic change in multicultural communities and workplaces throughout the world.

In addition to accepting AmeriCorps educational vouchers, SIT has scholarships such as:

The AmeriCorps Scholarship

This scholarship honors the significant intercultural and professional contribution made by AmeriCorps volunteers. Volunteers who have completed one year (10 to 12 months) of service are eligible for the competitively awarded $5,000 scholarship. The award is based on the type of work completed during service as well as the candidate's experience before and after work with AmeriCorps.

Community Service and Volunteer Scholarship

This scholarship is awarded in recognition of work done with an organization engaged in community service. Recipients should have worked for one year or longer for organizations such as AmeriCorps (see website for complete listing: <http://www.sit.edu/graduate/finaid/scholarships.html>)

SIT also has what is called SIT Master's Community Development Program with AmeriCorps*VISTA. Students wishing to participate in the AmeriCorps*VISTA partnership apply to VISTA during SIT's on-campus phase (September to May). If they are accepted, their VISTA service will meet SIT's professional practicum requirement. In addition, qualified alumni of VISTA who wish to earn an SIT master's degree after the completion of their service are eligible for SIT scholarship opportunities (for more information, see our Financial Aid web pages /graduate/finaid/scholarships.html). Also, you may wish to read more about the SIT / AmeriCorps*VISTA partnership /graduate/vista/overview.html

The University of Delaware is committed to preparing leaders for public and community service. Select graduate programs within the College of Human Services, Educations, and Public Policy and the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Delaware provide special educational benefits to the men and women who serve in one of the national AmeriCorps programs (AmeriCorps*VISTA, Public Allies) at the University of Delaware. The degreed programs include: Master of Public Administration, the M.A. or Ph.D. in Urban Affairs and Public Policy, the M.S. in Individual and Family Studies, the Ph.D. in Family Studies, the Ph.D. in Education, and the Master's or Ph.D. in Global Governance.

AmeriCorps members who have completed their service at the University of Delaware and who have been admitted as full-time students in one of several graduate programs are eligible to be selected for a graduate assistantship that provides full tuition and a living stipend of at least $12,200 per academic year. At least ten graduate assistantships will be provided each year to eligible AmeriCorps members admitted as full-time students to a graduate program. Additional assistantships may be awarded if funding is available.

AmeriCorps members who have completed their service at the University of Delaware and who have been admitted as full-time undergraduate students at the University will receive a matching scholarship equal to the educational award provided through the AmeriCorps program, provided the total amount does not exceed their educational costs.

As part of the University of Massachusetts public university system, CPCS offers a tuition that is affordable for most students. Our mission statement is consonant with the values and direction of most AmeriCorps alumni. CPCS is a competency-based system; service learning is an integral part of the curriculum. For an AmeriCorps alumnus who successfully completes 1 year of service, CPCS will automatically transfer 3 core competencies (these three are equivalent to 9 credits). These competencies can be applied toward any of our

Warren Wilson College has maintained a tradition of Work, Community Service and Academic endeavor for more than 100 years. Our student body (currently just over 800) has served alongside AmeriCorps work teams in the region several times while providing more than 23,000 hours of other service to the community each year. Service to others has been a condition of graduation since 1970. Many of our students complete hundreds of hours of volunteer service, then graduate and enter service organizations such as the Peace Corps.

If an alumnus of the AmeriCorps identifies himself/herself during the recruiting or financial aid process, his/her aid package from Warren Wilson will be given special consideration. The College makes every effort, within Federal Title IV guidelines, to provide an award package in which AmeriCorps funds will replace loan or unmet need; it does not eliminate or reduce grants from Warren Wilson College. In fact, within Warren Wilson College, we have a cadre of service oriented students known as the Bonner Scholars who are recognized with institutional scholarship and also receive a stipend for work/service during the summer of their junior year.

Warren Wilson College welcomes AmeriCorps alumni as kindred spirits who are already aware of the value of work and service to others.
